OPEN LETTER

TO: The Citizens of Cuyahoga County

The Honorable Thomas Moyer
Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Ohio

The Honorable Jimmy Dimora, Tim Hagan and Peter Lawson Jones
Commissioners of Cuyahoga County

The Honorable Thomas Stickrath
Director, Ohio Department of Youth Services

FROM: The Honorable Joseph F. Russo, 2005 Administrative Judge Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court

Perhaps the most difficult question I face in this year's open letter is "where to begin?" Remarkable progress was achieved in 2005 as evidenced by many noteworthy accomplishments in each department of court operations. The citizens of Cuyahoga County can be justifiably proud of the hard work and competent performance of our Juvenile Court staff.

Our Court Services Department encompasses many areas of general operations, including the Intake Unit, the Clerk of Courts office and courtroom proceedings. In previous annual reports, I commented about our highly successful Community Diversion Program. This program continues to grow. With the addition of the communities of Brookpark and Bratenahl, we and our community partners now address and monitor over 2,000 youth each year right in their own neighborhoods.

Few matters that come before the Juvenile Court match the importance of the issues on our abuse, neglect and dependency docket. In the fall of 2005, the Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court became the 28th Model Court jurisdiction nationwide in association with the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges. As a Model Court, our focus is on constant improvement in monitoring the safety of children, the due process rights of all parties, the timeliness of our court proceedings and the efficient and effective attainment of permanency for these vulnerable youth.

As I reflect on our Probation Services Department, I note the dedication of our staff in several initiatives. Among these are Project Safe Neighborhoods wherein we have established very successful in-school probation offices in two area high schools. The Court instituted a Victim Restitution Program which provides delinquent youths with the opportunity to earn money to reimburse victims. Additionally, the Probation Department began a training program for all our probation officers focusing on the specific and distinct needs of female offenders. In October, our Court hosted the National Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges seminar here in Cleveland, Ohio which covered female offender treatment, school safety, gang issues, and mental health symptoms and treatment.

Within our Probation Services Department is the Grants Management Unit. The year 2005 was a very successful one as the Juvenile Court received several major awards for programs vital to our mission. The Juvenile Drug Court received a two year grant from the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention in the amount of $145,000 per year. The Family Drug Court was the recipient of a three year grant in the sum of $400,000 per year through the Department of Health and Human Services Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration. Together, these funds will greatly enhance our treatment service capability and allow for significant expansion of our client base.

Our Detention Services were faced with concerns arising from the enactment of House Bill 400. This law provided for orders committing certain delinquent youth adjudicated of misdemeanor offenses to our detention center for periods up to ninety days. Our staff went to work immediately to devise suitable programming for these youths. Today, our Detention Center offers a variety of programs, including job readiness training, chemical dependency counseling, conflict resolution and life skills education as a response to these new challenges.

Throughout the year, the Detention Center staff worked diligently to prepare for accreditation from the American Correctional Association. We anticipate completing this process in the coming year. Lastly, the Juvenile Court engaged in a series of seminars for the express purpose of developing comprehensive management training throughout the entire Court. Every supervisor on staff participated in this essential work so as to attain our long term goals of improving job performance, establishing positive manager-employee relationships and developing quality customer service practice. To all our staff who have combined to make these achievements possible, I extend my congratulations and gratitude.

Along with the report of our achievements, I hereby submit, in compliance with the Ohio Revised Code Section 2151.18, the 2005 Annual Report of the Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court concerning the number and kinds of cases before it, their dispositions, and other data pertaining to the work of the Court.

Respectfully,

Honorable Joseph F. Russo

COURT SERVICES HIGHLIGHTS

MODEL COURT

On any given day, hundreds of children in this county are in court-ordered foster care, not knowing when or if they'll go home or ever have a permanent placement. Many remain without permanency for years. Since 1992, jurisdictions participating in the National Council of Juvenile & Family Court Judges' (NCJFCJ) Model Court process have been striving to improve outcomes for these children and their families.

The Model Courts are a group of 27 national juvenile and family courts committed to making a difference in the handling of child abuse and neglect cases. In the fall of 2005, Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court executed a contract with the NCJFCJ and was designated as the 28th model court in the country.

The Court has embarked upon this multi-year, multi-phase, multi-systems change process. We have begun to: assess our child abuse and neglect case processing; examine barriers to timely permanency; and develop court improvement plans.

DRUG COURT EXPANSION

The Juvenile and Family Drug Courts were charged with developing programs and service delivery expansion plans in 2005. The Juvenile Drug Court team applied for and received $200,000 in funding from the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention to address the dual diagnosis needs of enrolled youth. The Family Drug Court team was awarded a $1.2 million Department of Health and Human Services Substance Abuse & Mental Services Administration grant to provide best practice treatment and support services such as transportation and day care. Both programs will also be able to increase their number of participants and will complete outcome evaluations as a result of this funding.

EDUCATION INITIATIVE

Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court has recognized that there is an alarming correlation between educational deficiencies, inadequate education and delinquency. Well established statistics indicate that 70% of the juvenile justice population have learning disabilities and 33% are reading below the fourth grade level. The Court has taken many crucial steps to address and alleviate educational concerns for the youths that the Court serves.

The Court's Education Liaison was hired through a grant from the Cleveland Foundation in February, 2005. The Educational Liaison serves as a resource for Jurists and Court staff regarding Ohio school law, Federal special education law, and other educational matters.

The Education Liaison also works to develop and implement innovative educational programs for the Court. A project entitled the Educational Disability Protocol was initiated this year. It provides screening by the Institute for the Study of Interpersonal Violence (ISIV) for learning and developmental disabilities to juveniles admitted to the Detention Center. The screening is available to all juveniles who reside in Cleveland, and who have not been previously tested. By administering a battery of three educational screening tools, the licensed psychologists at ISIV have been able to determine if there is a possible learning disability. If a possible disability is detected, the youth is referred to their school district and the Court attempts to ensure that further evaluation, diagnosis and treatment are performed.

Sixty -five detention center residents were screened for educational disabilities in the first phase of implementation. Fifty out of the total 65 student were recommended to receive full-scale educational evaluations. Seventy-eight percent of the students screened had possible, previously undetected learning or developmental disabilities.

The ability to identify learning and developmental disabilities in at-risk youth is key to reduce recidivism. Once additional funding is received, several innovative and significant services will be added to the project to enhance its long-term value and meet the expectations and objectives that the Court has deemed crucial in the lives of Court-involved youth.

DIAGNOSTIC CLINIC

In the fall of 2004, the Court's Diagnostic Clinic participated in a comprehensive assessment by an external panel of experts in order to assist the court in identifying the administrative needs of the Clinic. Beginning in early 2005, a Court sub-committee was formed to review the panel's recommendations and to develop strategies and timelines for the implementation of these changes.

Based on the recommendations of the review team, the clinic was moved from the Probation Department to the administrative supervision of the Court Services Department. This move was made due to the Clinic's close relationship to the courtrooms and to attain better case flow management.

To facilitate more responsive and timely evaluations, the Diagnostic Clinic added additional skilled Forensic Clinicians to complete evaluations on a contractual basis. A new staff person was hired to act as the "gatekeeper" for all referrals.

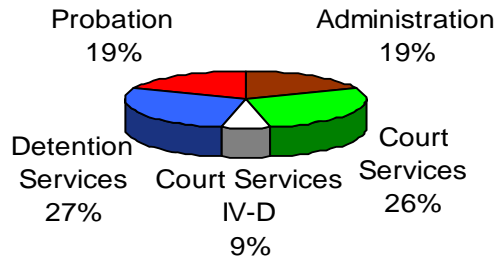

Finally, to address the difficulties inherent in the volume of evaluations to be transcribed and the delays that occur as a by-product of this volume, the Court contracted for digital dictation transcription services. It is believed that with the implementation of these strategies, as well as a continued commitment by the Court to invest in the Diagnostic Clinic and its evolving needs, it will continue to be an invaluable asset to the Court and community.

PROBATION SERVICES

The Probation Department of the Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court administers services which include: probation investigation and supervision, community service, school based probation, Day Reporting, Multi-Systemic Therapy Program, Female Offender Program, Parent Project and ODYS Population Management Program.

PROBATION INVESTIGATION AND SUPERVISION

The probation department consists of two divisions: investigation and supervision. Probation officers have the primary responsibility of administering the duties and powers of the probation department. There are three investigating probation units and six supervising probation units.

The purpose of supervision is to assist the offender and his/her family to develop adaptive behaviors, which will prevent further court involvement.

GRADUATED SANCTIONS

The Probation Department's Staff utilizes graduated sanctions with probationers, applying a continuum of care in an accountability-based sanctions system. In general, this entails a four phased process. These phases include: (1) Immediate sanctions, which are appropriate for first-time misdemeanor offenders, minor repeat offenders and selected non-violent felons (2) Intermediate sanctions, which are appropriate for juveniles who continue to offend following immediate interventions, drug trafficking offenders and other more serious offenders in need of close supervision, structure and monitoring (3) Secure care programs, which are for a small minority of serious, violent, and chronic juvenile offenders who need secure confinement to protect public safety and ensure accountability and following secure care, (4) Aftercare programs, which provide high levels of social control and treatment services after release from secure institutions.

The experienced probation officer recognizes when to apply graduated sanctions to non-compliant behavior. These sanctions are individualized restrictive sanctions. Secure care is used only as a last resort under these circumstances.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

The Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court's Community Service Program was developed in 1986 to provide the Court with a positive dispositional alternative. It was designed as an intermediate sanction to provide juveniles an opportunity to make amends for harm done to the victim and the community. The program emphasis is that the juvenile take responsibility for his/her own actions. The program can be used as court-ordered dispositional alternative, ranging from community service and no probation to community service in conjunction with probation.

In 2005, there were 1,586 youths who participated in various community service activities conducted in 225 service sites throughout the County. This represents an increase of 47% in the use of community service as an alternative disposition.

The program has been expanded to include additional sanctions that can be given by the probation officer such as community service school suspension program. For example, when a youth is suspended from school, a probation officer will require the juvenile to perform up to four days of community service. During the summer months, there is a mandatory one-day community service for ALL probation youth.

There are Saturday sessions throughout the year and during weekday evenings. On each Saturday, at least 25 to 30 youth participate, with 6 staff members to supervise them. In 2005, probationers completed 48,930 hours of community service.

The Community Services Program has expanded its usage of alternative dispositions. The program has an 83% successful completion rate, with 1,006 of the 1,211 closed cases completing the assigned hours.

SCHOOL BASED PROBATION

In May of 2003, the Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court's Probation Department received a Project Safe Neighborhood Grant through the U.S. Bureau of Justice Assistance, in conjunction with the Ohio Criminal Justice Services to fund a School-based Probation Violent Offender Project. This project involved a collaborative effort with the Cleveland Municipal School District (CMSD), the Cleveland Police Department's First and Sixth Districts, and the Court. After the grant period ended, the project was sustained by Reclaim Ohio Funding due to the success of the program.

The Probation Department has placed a Juvenile Probation Officer, referred to as a School-Based Liaison (SBL), in each of the two (CMSD) High Schools: one (1) School-Based Liaison in John Marshall (CPD First District) and one (1) School-Based Liaison in Glenville High School (CPD Sixth District). The intent is to provide planned intensive probation supervision within the immediate environment of juvenile offenders attending these schools, sharing information with school and law enforcement officials.

Probationers are seen daily. With a goal of increasing parental involvement, the School-Based Liaison participates when necessary in probationers' Individual Educational Plans (IEP). The School-Based Liaison may become involved with school social workers in pro-social skill group sessions. The expectation is to reduce recidivism, reduce truancy, and assist youth in developing positive pro-social skill behaviors.

School-Based Liaisons work closely with the Cleveland Police Department especially with respect to youth at risk and youth absconding. Probation Staff have received special training in order to work effectively in this collaborative Project Safe Neighborhood endeavor.

DAY REPORTING

This program has been in existence since 1995, offering year-round services. The Day Reporting Center's operational hours are from 9:00-7:00 p.m. and the program is utilized as a graduated sanction by supervising probation officers for both male and female probationers. The program has a capacity to serve 20 youths each day. The program modules consist of 120 hours of programming over six weeks, promoting pro-social skills, communication skills, conflict resolution, anger and time management, as well as other "influence" topics and educational support.

The Center serves adjudicated youth suspended or expelled, as well as probationers attending classes on a regular basis. An additional function of the Day Reporting program augments the Community Service School Suspension Program.

PARENT PROJECT

The Parent Project is a nationally acclaimed program which was developed in California by parents of teens exhibiting destructive behavior and is open to adolescents ages 11 to 17, who have not committed extreme acts of violence or sexually oriented crimes.

A unique feature of the program is its objective to develop a support network among the participating parents which continues after the formal program ends. This support network encourages parents to continue to meet the challenge of setting rules for their children.

The curriculum offered ten, three hour long sessions delivered weekly to parents at each of three locations: East, West and Downtown. Results from the 2004 pilot were promising, showing that parents, at a minimum, learned the importance of expressing affection to their teenagers and to establish limits.

MULTI-SYSTEMIC THERAPY PROGRAM

This Program has been in existence for over six years. The program employs eight therapists and one manager. The program serves over 100 youths and families per year.

The Multi-Systemic Therapy Program (MST) is a unique, goal oriented, comprehensive treatment program designed to serve multi-problem youth in their community. MST is a community based treatment program which has been the focus of several major ongoing research studies. In addition, MST has demonstrated clinical and cost effectiveness for youths with complex emotional, social and academic needs.

MST utilizes a home-based model whereby therapists provide intensive services within the family's home, school and community. Therapists are available 24 hours per day, seven days per week. The average length of treatment is between 2-5 months and is intensive, often involving multiple contacts with families and other participants several hours per week.

MST is most effective in helping youth with chronic, violent delinquent behavior and youth with serious emotional problems including truancy and academic problems, aggressive behaviors, criminal behaviors, drug and alcohol use, and negative peer involvement.

Families can expect the MST therapist to provide a variety of different services. These include, but are not limited to: family therapy, individual therapy, chemical dependency assessment and treatment, peer evaluation and coordination of pro-social activities, other services/systems of care, and arrangement of psychiatric consultation and medication management services.

MST provides youth/families with a complete assessment of the youth with emphasis placed on their family system, school and community. Emphasis is placed heavily on long-term change which families can maintain after the program ends.

FEMALE OFFENDER PROGRAM

This program is a comprehensive initiative to ensure effective services for female probationers. This initiative started with training for probation and other Court staff, about the female perspective. The female offender initiative also included a pilot program of a continuum of services for girls to address their unique needs.

The Court received a Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) grant from Ohio Department of Jobs and Family Services' Department of Employment and Family Services to implement this pilot. The continuum consisted of: (1) seven different after -school wellness workshops delivered at each probation branch office (2) needs screening of all female probationers, using the Global Risk Assessment Device (GRAD) and (3) consultation and service brokerage by Female Gender-Specific Specialists contractors.

At the conclusion of services, the girls underwent exit interviews. Based on the results of the interview, the girls developed a "life plan" to reinforce the workshop principles and connect them to community resources for continued personal success following probation termination.

Other gender-related initiatives include female gender specific Multi-Systemic workers and a behavioral health day reporting center which address mental health and substance abuse among females.

RITETRACK: Data Management System

In an effort to better manage the youth committed to The Ohio Department of Youth Services, the Court implemented RiteTrack, a data management system. RiteTrack is helping Juvenile Court calculate and reconcile bed days, as well as collecting demographic information regarding youth and their sentences. The RiteTrack system also assists staff in the reconciliation process by scanning and attaching journal entries to the youth's electronic file.

This system has helped to strengthen our relationship with the Department of Youth Services. The court is also better positioned to track and manage funding from the Youth Services Subsidy-RECLAIM Ohio allocations. The results are enhanced community based programs for at-risk youth .

DETENTION CENTER HIGHLIGHTS

Detention Services manages the care of all juveniles in the secure detention continuum, including the Detention Center, Shelter Care, and Home Detention. During the year 2005, the Detention Center held an average of 125 juveniles. Shelter Care served an average of 53 juveniles, and Home Detention monitored an average of 111 juveniles.

LIVING UNITS

One of the most important performance indicators in the Detention Center is the measurement of quality of life for the residents. This is done through the use of a nationally recognized Social Climate Study. First begun in 1998, significant progress has been made each year, and it continues to show improvements. These changes can be attributed to several program improvement, including the amount of time social workers spend with residents and numerous volunteer activities.

Community volunteers provide life skills, substance abuse awareness, health and hygiene counseling, anger management and conflict resolution programming to residents.

Volunteer instructor of Arts and Crafts, Mary Krogness, had the director and artist from the “Art House” spend several weeks working with residents to develop their skills in arts and crafts. All residential units participated in arts and crafts projects that were displayed throughout the Detention Center and the Main Court.

ACCREDITATION

During the latter part of 2004, a contract was signed with the American Correctional Association (ACA) to begin the process of accreditation for Juvenile Detention Facilities. During 2005, policies were reviewed and updated, a system of facility inspection was implemented, and a Social Climate Study was completed. The ACA accreditation audit will occur in the fall of 2006.

HOUSE BILL 400 PROGRAMMING

Under HB 400, Ohio law now permits juvenile courts to commit juveniles to a detention facility for up to 90 days as a disposition. Before that, detention could only be used as a holding facility until the jurist ordered a disposition elsewhere. Special programs developed to serve these residents include youth violence, chemical dependency awareness, and job readiness groups.

EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

The Juvenile Detention Center houses a school within the Cleveland Municipal School District, named the "Downtown Educational Center". The School District provides a principal and teachers and residents receive school credits for academic work completed.

STAFF TRAINING

All Juvenile Detention Center employees receive 18 hours of Core Competency Training which includes cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, automatic external defibrillation, standard first-aid, blood borne pathogens, communicable diseases, emergency response (suicide prevention and intervention), Crisis Prevention Institute Verbal De-escalation and Unarmed Self-Defense.

POPULATION CONTROL

In order to control population, Detention Admission Screening Officers screen all juveniles arrested by law enforcement for admission to secure detention using a validated Detention Admission Screening Instrument (DASI). Home Detention has increased its capacity to serve juveniles placed on electronic monitoring. New technology allows the electronic monitoring base unit to be plugged into any home outlet, thereby increasing ways to monitor the juveniles activities. Although landlines are still utilized, this allows the monitoring of a broader population without landlines.

2005 Annual Report

STATISTICAL SUMMARY/INFORMATION , YEAR 2005

Total cases referred to the Juvenile Court in 2005 were 28,238. This represents a three percent (3%) decrease from 2004. Nonetheless, the volume was well above the average of 27,200 cases filed annually during the past decade. Delinquency cases increased by one percent (1%) over 2004, for a total of 8,667. Unruly cases declined by the same percentage over last year for a total of 2,316.

Children and family cases, which include charges of abuse, neglect and dependency, support and custody of minor children and parent-child relationship filings dropped six percent (6%) from last year for a total of 6,997. There were 8,205 traffic offender cases in 2005 compared to 8,343 in 2004 – a decrease of just under two percent (2%). The Juvenile Court Community Diversion Program referred 2,072 cases to our local communities which represents a nine percent (9%) decrease from the 2,280 referrals in 2004.

Property offenses, most of which involve charges of theft, vandalism, burglary and receiving stolen property dropped significantly in 2005 to 5,013 cases. This represents a twelve percent (12%) decrease from the 5,705 such cases in 2004. Currently, property offenses account for less than a third of all juvenile offenses. Person offenses, including assault, domestic violence, robbery and menacing have increased to approximately seventeen percent (17%) of all offenses filed. There were 4,346 person offenses in 2005, representing a three percent (3%) increase over the 4,216 such offenses in 2004. Public order offenses, including disorderly conduct, obstruction of justice, resisting arrest, rioting and inducing panic totaled 3,225 in 2005 compared to 2,903 in 2004 – an eleven percent (11%) increase. Conversely, there was a seven percent (7%) decrease in drug offenses – 1,572 in 2005 compared to 1,690 in 2004.

It should be noted that, although children and family cases represent only twenty-five percent (25%) of the Court's total caseload, these matters consume a great portion of docket time. The Court held 37,977 hearings resulting in 25,639 dispositions in these cases. Efforts were also made to ensure some economic stability for children involved in support matters, with the Court issuing 4,286 orders of child support in 2005.

Dispositions in delinquency and unruly cases included 4,095 orders of probation, 375 commitments to the Ohio Department of Youth Services and 259 commitments to the Youth Development Center in Hudson, Ohio. Additionally, 55 cases were transferred to the adult criminal division of the Common Pleas Court – an increase of 13 cases from 2004.

Of the 2005 total of delinquency and unruly cases, fifty-one percent (51%) originated in Cleveland, and forty-five percent (45%) from the suburbs – four percent (4%) resided out of county. For the City of Cleveland, the three highest statistical planning areas for delinquency offenses included South Broadway 229, Glenville, 225 and Mt. Pleasant 200. The highest suburban areas were Cleveland Heights 374, Parma 258 and Euclid with 249 offenses.

Please see the statistical tables that follow in this report for more details concerning the data summarized in this statement.
