The Court will consider the applicant’s age, education and employment history, the nature of the offense, the cessation or continuation of delinquent, unruly, or criminal behavior, and any other circumstances that may relate to the applicant’s rehabilitation. It is critical this information be included on the application to expunge and any supporting documents be attached to the application.

The prosecutor will be notified of the applicant’s request to expunge his or her record and may object to the request.

The court may schedule a hearing on the application to expunge a record. The applicant should bring any witnesses or evidence to the hearing that may assist the court in making its determination.
